TITLE

Evaluation in Teaching English: Inside Out

Speaker: Valentina Holubeva

Presentation Type: Workshop

Abstract

Evaluation is inseparable from education, as it provides insight into learners' progress, determines instructional choices, influences motivation, and ultimately demonstrates the extent to which teaching methods and materials are coherent with learning goals. This workshop will guide participants through the intricate structure of evaluation, beginning with the nuances of assessing linguistic performance and progressing to the evaluation of behaviour and learning skills, attitudes, and motivational factors. A variety of evaluation modes, tools, techniques, and procedures will be presented and discussed, which will enable participants to diversify their evaluation practices, enhance motivation, and create an inspiring learning environment.

Biography

Valentina is an experienced teacher of EFL, a linguistic researcher, and a leader within her professional community. Her teaching style is shaped by continuous study of learner behaviour in diverse educational contexts, active involvement in real-life international projects, and participation in numerous conferences and workshops. An early adopter of technological and methodological innovation, Valentina maintains a focus on their effectiveness and advocates a learner-centred approach.
